Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Telemedicine Visits for New and Follow-Up Patients

We are now offering video-conferenced telemedicine visits for both new and follow-up patients. This service is available immediately and as always, we accept most commercial insurance and Medicaid plans.

Examples of visits that are ideal for telemedicine:

- Patients needing clearance for ADHD medication who have already had an ECG.
- Those with an established cardiac diagnosis who are experiencing new symptoms and not sure whether they need in-person evaluation or testing.
- Patients with heart palpitations or suspected arrhythmias on exam may be eligible to have 24-hour Holter monitors mailed to their home.

In-Office Services Remain Available

We continue to offer routine services including ECG, echocardiogram, exercise stress testing, and cardiac monitoring with a few updates to our general operations:

- All waiting areas and exam rooms are equipped with Purell stations and rooms are being sanitized in-between patient visits.
- Patients have been encouraged to maintain a safe distance while in the waiting room or are welcome to wait in their cars and be brought straight into the exam room.
- Patients with fever, recent illness or potential exposure to Covid-19 will be rescheduled or given the option to switch to telemedicine visits if possible.

We appreciate your patience and understanding while we navigate these uncertain times.
